SECTION B

51. Read the passage below and in full sentences the questions that follow.

Trees are one of the most vital components of our planet, playing a crucial role in sustaining life on earth. Not only do they provide oxygen, food and shelter, but they also support biodiversity, prevent soil erosion and help regulate climate. Trees produce oxygen by absorbing carbon dioxide through photosynthesis, making them essential for human survival. Trees provide fruits, seeds and leaves that serve as a source of food for humans and animals alike. They also offer shelter and habitat for countless species of birds, insects and other wildlife. Trees also regulate climate by absorbing greenhouse gases, reducing the risk of global warming and moderating temperatures. Trees also prevent soil erosion. Trees play a very vital role in our environment and therefore we ought to also care for them. This can be done by planting more trees, reducing deforestation and promoting sustainable forestry practices.

Questions

53. Read the poem below and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Moving without stopping
Through hills, valleys, plains and mountains
Like a long belt, it allows us to go
By cars, buses, or motorcycles
Even on foot, we reach our destination.

Muramed or tarmacked

We are unstoppable
Dusty during sunny weather
Slippery during rainy weather
Still we reach home.

Take care while on roads
Pedestrians, keep on the right
Drivers and motorists, keep left
These days are not easy
Accidents everywhere.

School children observe the Highway Code
Before you cross
Look left and right
If the road is clear cross quickly
But don't run.

Eseeza
