SECTION B: 50 MARKS

Questions 51 to 55 carry 10 marks each

51. Read the passage below and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

Dogs and lions are not friends because they were once competing for the title of "Guardian of the Village ".

Dogs relied on their sense of smell and alertness, to protect the village, while lions depended on their strength and courage.

Their rivalry grew, and the village chief decided to let them both serve as guardians, but in different ways: Dogs watch over homes at night, and Lions protect the village from afar. The story goes that Dogs and Lions became like night and day – complementary, yet distinct.

Dogs would alert the village to sneaky threats, while Lions would scare away bigger predators.

Their differences made them respect each other, but they rarely hung out. Dogs would say, "Lions are too loud!", and Lions would reply, "Dogs are too noisy!"

Their banter became a village favorite, and people would say, "Dogs and Lions may not be friends, but they keep our village safe together."

So, Dogs and lions became unlikely friends, working together to keep the village safe. One night, a fierce storm hit, and the animals' homes were in danger.

Dogs used their agility to rescue those trapped, while Lions used their mighty roars to scare away the winds. Together, they saved the village.

From that day, they respected each other and worked together in harmony.

52. Read the poem below and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

In the kitchen where the spices rise,
A gentle warmth begins to bloom,
Each flavor sings, each scent replies,
Chasing shadows from the room.

A plate of colors, rich and bright,
Brings laughter to the waiting face,
Each bite a spark of pure delight,
A simple joy none can replace.

Around the table, hearts align,
Stories flow like evening light,
In every meal, a love divine,
Food turns moments bright.
