QUESTION TAGS

- A question tag is a very short clause at the end of a statement which turns it into a question.
- Sometimes the speaker uses a question tag to ask the listener to agree with him or her.
- A question tag may be made up of auxiliary verbs like do, does, can, will, shall, were, did, have, etc.
- A question tag always consists of a pronoun e.g. I, she, he, you, they, it, we, etc.
- As a general rule, we use a negative question tag after an affirmative sentence and vice versa.

Examples

- a. Kulang is a smart boy, isn't he?
- b. Kulang is not a smart boy, is he?
- c. There is some water in the pot, isn't there?

SPEECHES

THE DIRECT SPEECH

- The direct speech quotes the exact words from the speaker's mouth.
- A direct speech sentence has two major parts i.e. the speech tag and the actual words from the speaker's mouth.
- The speech tag contains the verb of reporting.

PUNCTUATING THE DIRECT SPEECH

- Put the actual words of the speaker inside quotation marks.
- If the speech tag begins the sentence, put a comma before the opening quotations.
- Use a capital letter after the opening quotation marks.

NOTE: Never put the speech tag inside quotation marks.

Examples of speech tags

- said Keller
- the teacher promised
- asked the dentist

- ⦿ their mother said
- ⦿ he inquired
- ⦿ asked Kama
- ⦿ she replied
- ⦿ ordered the teacher
- ⦿ the president remarked

PUNCTUATION MARKS USED IN THE DIRECT SPEECH

THE INDIRECT SPEECH/REPORTED SPEECH

- ☉ We use the reported speech or indirect speech when we want to report what someone said without speech marks/quotation marks.
- ☉ In the indirect speech, the reporter doesn't necessarily use the exact same words of the speaker.
- ☉ The reported speech always uses the tense expressed in the verb of reporting.

Examples -

- ❖ "I am tired of being bossed around," she said.
She said that she was tired of being bossed around. (past)
- ❖ "I am tired of your mistakes," she says.
She says that she is tired of my mistakes. (simple present)

CHANGES IN THE INDIRECT SPEECH

COMPREHENSION

Read the passage and answer the questions in full sentences.

When asked if school children should have long holidays, the answers from different individuals will certainly differ. Some people share the opinion that school children are entitled to long holidays while others disagree. In my opinion, school children should be given long holidays. I have my own reasons for thinking so.

The freedom of school children is normally restricted by their parents during school days as they want them to give maximum concentration to their studies in order to pass their examinations with flying colours. Apart from schooling, they have to spend a lot of time doing their homework and attending to other school-related activities as well. As a result, they hardly have any time left for leisure pursuits. During school holidays, more freedom is usually given and children are able to spend their time on activities they enjoy doing. For example for children with green fingers, holiday can be their best moment for gardening. They can also spend more time on their favourite sports. This helps them to keep both mentally and physically fit.

Long school holidays are also a perfect moment for children to strengthen their family ties, since families need to spend time together in order to bond. Examples of activities that assist to develop close family ties are having a picnic at the seaside and playing games together. When children involve in home chores like preparing meals and cleaning the house, they learn about the spirit of cooperation and burden sharing. This helps to further strengthen family ties. Besides, they learn to be more independent and responsible when they do such activities as washing dishes, clothes, and sweeping the floor.

Questions

1. What does the writer think about holidays?

2. Who restricts the freedom of children during school days?

ADVERBS OF DEGREE

Adverbs of degree tell us to what extent an action is done/happens.

Examples

almost	hardly	fairly
very	extremely	fully
scarcely	barely	somewhat
quite	so	really
just	too	nearly
rather	ever	etc.

NOTE: Adverbs of degree are normally placed after the helping verb and before the main verb in a sentence.

e.g We could hardly see anything in the cave.

Exercise I

Underline the adverb of degree in each of the sentences below.

1. He was too careless to pass the test.
2. These avocados are almost ripe.
3. I am fully prepared for the debate.
4. Serena Bata sings pretty well.
5. You are altogether mistaken.
6. You are quite wrong to suggest that.

Rewrite each sentence below putting the adverb given in brackets in the right position.

1. Your previous letter was hard to interpret. (rather)
2. The letter Julie wrote to Samantha was illegible. (very)
3. My aunt was happy to receive my letter last week. (truly)
4. Your signature is complicated for me to forge. (too)
5. This classroom is spacious. (really)
6. We had got lost. (nearly)
7. The old woman was blind in both eyes. (almost)

8. The cripple could walk out of the waiting room. (barely)

ADVERBS OF TIME / DURATION

These are adverbs used to tell when an action is done.

Examples

tomorrow	last week	now
yesterday	today	next week
tonight	this morning
in the afternoon	next year	etc

Exercise

Underline the adverb in each sentence below.

1. I have heard this before.
2. Let us begin the work now.
3. I received a letter from him recently.
4. He comes here daily.
5. Yesterday I arrived late.

ADVERBS OF PLACE

Adverbs of place tell us the place of action or where an action takes place.

Examples

here	there	near	backward(s)
outside	elsewhere	behind	ahead
somewhere	far	along	upstairs
underground	above	etc.

Exercise

Underline the adverb of place in each of the sentences below.

1. Stand here.
2. Go there.
3. The faithful dog follows its master everywhere he goes.
4. The horse galloped away.
5. The flask is inside the kitchen.
6. Is our teacher within?

ADVERBS OF FREQUENCY

These are used to show how often an action occurs.

Examples

daily	usually	unusually	yearly	sometimes
frequently	rarely	monthly	fortnightly	quarterly biennially	seldom	never	ever	always etc.

Examples

1. I have told you this story twice.
2. He often makes mistakes.
3. He seldom comes here.
4. I always try to do my best.
5. He rarely comes unprepared.

8. My mother collects firewood three times a week.
9. Our classroom is mopped two times every day.
10. Kapere goes to the art gallery every fortnight.

COMPARISON OF ADVERBS

Adverbs, like adjectives, have three degrees of comparison, namely the positive degree, the comparative degree and the superlative degree.

REGULAR ADVERBS

Some regular adverbs form the comparative by using -er and the superlative by taking -est.

Positive

fast long hard soon

Comparative

faster longer harder sooner

Superlative

fastest longest hardest soonest

Adverbs ending in -ly form the comparative by adding 'more' and the superlative by adding 'most'.

Positive

swiftly skilfully cleverly wisely kindly foolishly

Comparative

more swiftly more skilfully more cleverly more wisely more kindly more foolishly

Superlative

most swiftly
most skilfully
most cleverly
most wisely most kindly most foolishly

IRREGULAR ADVERBS

Positive

ill well little near far late much

Comparative

worse better less nearer farther/further later more

Superlative

worst best least nearest farthest/furthest latest most

MEMORY AID

farther v further

The above comparatives and their superlatives can both be used to talk about distance.

Example

- ❖ Which of the three cyclists rode furthest/farthest?
- ❖ Further, can also be used to mean more.

19. The more _____

Using..... hardly.....

- Hardly is a negative word and is usually used with words like ever or any.
- Hardly is used to mean almost not/ almost never/ almost no.
- We do not use hardly with other negative words such as not, never or no.
- Hardly can be used at the beginning of a sentence and there's always inversion in the sentence when this happens. This pattern is common in formal writing.
- Inversion is when the verb comes before the subject in a sentence.

Examples

Re-write the following usinghardly.....

1. There is very little ink in the inkpot.
There is hardly any ink in the inkpot.
Hardly is there any ink in the inkpot.
2. There was almost no one at the post office reception.
There was hardly anyone at the post office reception.
Hardly was there anyone at the post office reception.
3. We could almost notice nothing in Jagura's letter to his uncle.
We could hardly notice anything in Jagura's letter to his uncle.
Hardly could we notice anything in Jagura's letter to his uncle.

Activity

Re-write the following sentences usinghardly.....

1. There was almost no letter in the mailbox.
2. There is very little sense in your letter.
3. There was almost nobody waiting to receive the parcel.
4. There is almost no meaning in the conclusion of your letter.
5. You can almost notice no one writing letters to a friend nowadays
6. There are few envelopes at the stationer's.

WRITING INFORMAL LETTERS

PARTS OF AN INFORMAL LETTER

1. The writer's address

e.g.

Police Children Primary School
PO Box 321
Mbarara

2. The date

2nd September 2021
2/9/21
02/09/21

The date is written in different styles depending on the kind of English the writer is using. For example the above dates are all in British English. In American English, 2/9/21 means 9th February 2021. This is because Americans write the month before the date. It is advisable that the learner uses the British date style, which is emphasised in most schools.

NOTE: Do not punctuate the date with a full stop.

Putting a comma between the month and the year is now considered out-dated, unless the date is part of a sentence.

3. The salutation

Hello Mellor
Dear Uncle
Dear Sister
Dear Dad etc.

4. The body or message

The body of the letter is comprised of the message the writer would like to convey to the recipient of the letter.

5. The complimentary close

You may use any of the following endings in informal letters.
Your loving daughter

*Your granddaughter
Your nephew
Love from
With kind regards
With best wishes
Yours*

6. The writer's name

Here use your first name, not the surname.

The name should be written in lower case letters.

e.g.

Agnes,

Abdul

Alex

Beatrice

David

Lynn

Hellen

NOT Agnes-Nakitto, not Nakitto-Agnes, not Nakitto

PUNCTUATION IN LETTER WRITING

There are basically two styles of punctuating a letter, namely:

A. CLOSED PUNCTUATION

Under closed punctuation, the writer puts a comma at the end of each line in the address, the salutation and the complimentary close.

Here the last line of the address is always punctuated with a full stop, not a comma.

Example

*Namagoma Junior School,
PO Box 2033,
Mpigi.*

B. OPEN PUNCTUATION

In open punctuation, no punctuation mark is put at the end of the lines in the address, the salutation and the complimentary close.

Example

*Namagoma Junior School
PO Box 2033
Mpigi*

Kyamuswa Village
PO Box 277
Malangala

30th October 2019

Dear Treasure

I am pleased to write to you again after such a long time. How are you and how are you getting on with the new class in your new school? I am glad to learn that you joined your dream school - Bushenyi Girls' Secondary School.

I have written to invite you to my home so that we can spend the May holiday together. Holiday life here is always fun. Part of my holiday plan is to tour different tourist sites in Uganda. Please do join me and we double the fun.

We shall also have holiday camps in some of the famous tourist sites in the country. I am sure you will not want to miss all these exciting moments. Please remember that during our tours, we'll spend the nights in various five-star hotels in Uganda.

I have already informed my mum about this invitation. Please make it a point and join me in the next four days so we can ready ourselves to share this joy together. I look forward to your company.

Yours
David

4th March 2021

Dear Aunt Mariana

I am privileged to write to you this morning. How are my cousins, Samuel and Maureen? Thank you for taking care of me when I visited you during the first term holiday in 2020.

We are going to have our tour to western Uganda on 20th March this year. The headmaster has asked us to pay for this tour, but my parents went abroad. I am therefore writing to kindly request you to send me eighty-four thousand shillings (shs 84000) so that I can be one of those going on this tour.

Aunt Mariana, I also request you to send me thirty thousand shillings (shs 30000) for my upkeep while on the tour. If my parents come back, I will ask them to refund all the money you will have given to me.

I will be grateful if I receive the money a week before the deadline, which is 15th March 2021.

Your niece
Daphine

Dear Madam

Re: APPLICATION FOR A VACANCY IN SENIOR ONE

I humbly write to apply for a vacancy in Senior One in your school. I am a female Ugandan aged thirteen and a former pupil of Great Times Primary School in Kampala City.

I sat my Primary Leaving Examination last year and passed in division one with aggregate seven. At Great Times Primary School, I was the school timekeeper for the whole of 2017 and I led the school worship team for the whole of 2018.

I will be grateful if granted the opportunity to study from this great school and I promise to be a visionary student, working hard for better results every term.

Yours faithfully

Re: REQUEST TO CHANGE MY NAME

I humbly submit my request to be allowed to change my name before the PLE registration forms are taken to UNEB offices.

The reasons as to why I have made this request are only two. One of them is that my parents recently changed my surname from Mugimba to Mugimu. The other reason is that I misspelt my first name, so I would like to correct it before the forms are forwarded to UNEB.

I will be glad if my humble request is honoured, and I promise not to make the same spelling mistake I made once given a second chance.

Yours faithfully
Mugimba Vicencia

COMPREHENSION

Read the passage below and, in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

Man has always tried to overcome the limitations he faces with the help of various inventions. He has invented automobiles or planes for his speedy movement, radio, the television for his ears and eyes, machines for muscles and so on. The inventions are really the wonders of our civilization, but the invention of a computer is the wonder of all wonders. This is because it adds to man's intelligence and increases the speed and accuracy of his brain.

The computer helps man in various fields. It can make calculations quicker and more accurate than man's brain. Man first started counting with the help of his fingers, but this is now history. When he wanted to take note of the number of assets he had, he could draw lines on the walls of his cave. This too is now in history books. He could also use pebbles, shells etc to do counting. The computer has today erased all that's why it is used in factories, banks, railway stations and hotels in all countries. The computer is also used in schools to conduct online classes, set examinations and to compile students' results. People in offices use the computer to compile and preserve statistical data for future reference.

Doctors nowadays use the computer to diagnose and treat diseases easily and accurately. Fatal diseases like ulcers, tuberculosis, COVID-19 can be cured when they are located at an early stage with the help of the computer.

A day will come when man's civilized life will be dominated by the use of a computer and it will then be a household item, just like the radio, television or a mobile phone. To me it's the greatest discovery the world has ever seen and I hope it will soon benefit the whole world.

Questions

1. What is the passage about?

2. According to the passage, what helps man to move faster?

3. What does the writer call the wonder of wonders?

4. How did man take note of the number of his assets in the past?

5. Mention two items man could use to count.
i. _____
ii. _____
6. How do schools use the computer?

7. How useful is the computer to a doctor?

8. Write another word or group of words to mean the same the underlined words in the passage.

a. automobiles _____

b. greatest _____

9. Suggest a suitable title to the passage above.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

- Relative pronouns are used to connect relative clauses to nouns or pronouns.

NOTE: The pronoun or noun that precedes (comes before) a relative pronoun is its antecedent.

EXAMPLES OF RELATIVE PRONOUNS

- a. who
- b. whom
- c. whose
- d. which
- e. that

- The above words are called relative pronouns when used to introduce a relative clause in a sentence.
- Who and whom are used when the antecedent/subject in the sentence is a human being.
- Whose is used as a relative possessive pronoun in the same way as his/her/its.
- their.
- Which is used when the subject/ antecedent in the sentence is a thing, (not a human being.)
- That is used informally to mean the same as which/ who.

Examples

- a. The people who kidnapped my friend were dressed in black clothes.
- b. The vet has seen the dog whose paw got injured.
- c. That is the comic which my father bought me last week.
- d. The boy whom you saw on the street was tortured by his parents.
- e. The police officer can't see the key that opens her drawer.

RELATIVE CLAUSES

- Relative clauses are used to identify or define people or things.
- Relative clauses can also be used to give more information about people or things.

DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES

- Defining relative clauses are also known as restrictive relative clauses.
- They give essential information about the antecedent in a sentence.
- A defining relative clause is indispensable in a sentence. i.e. once it's removed, the sentence becomes vague.

PARTS OF A SENTENCE WITH A DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSE

Example

- The girl who stole my sugar was punished yesterday.

The girl-----antecedent who-----relative pronoun who stole my sugar-----relative clause
the girl was punished yesterday-----main clause

Activity

Rewrite the following sentences using the most appropriate relative pronoun.

- The cat crossed the road in the morning. It belongs to our neighbour.
- The teacher has begun writing his memories. The teacher is about to retire.
- The witch has died of typhoid. The witch killed my two rams.
- The dog is limping. The dog was knocked down by a car last week.
- The actor will be on stage tonight. He last performed in 2019.
- The gentleman has not yet cleared his rent. The gentleman shares a flat with Lawrence.

- A girl stole my pet. Do you still remember her?
- Where is the widow? Her property was grabbed by the family members.
- The girl reported the matter to police. The girl was robbed of her money purse.

NON-DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES

- Non-defining relative clauses add information that may not be essential to the sentence.
- Unlike the defining relative clause, the non-defining relative clause can be removed and the sentence remains meaningful.
- This is so because the antecedent in such sentences is always clear to the listener.

NOTE: Non-defining relative clauses are separated from the main clause using two commas.

Examples

- a. Mary, whom all of us adore, is a hardworking girl.
- b. That old woman, who was crying of back pain, needs medication.
- c. Artificial foods, which many children enjoy, can be harmful to our mental health.

COMPREHENSION

Read the poem below and, in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

My dear parents, I guess you've heard
The stories of children who are transferred
From the peaceful homes where they dwell
To the dark places worse than hell

So, teach me to do chores while at home
Not to be idle like a rising clown at dawn
Teach me to respect elders and teachers
For this will defeat even my worst haters

Teach me to use my right to education
To fulfil even my greatest ambition
Leaving this Uganda better than I found it
Perhaps adding more pleasure, not just a bit

I beg to spare a minute or two with you
To learn to live in peace with my juniors
I request to learn a lot more from you
So that I don't fall prey to evildoers like a ewe.

By Ddembe H. Kamenyo

COMPREHENSION

Read the poem below and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Domestic animals, a gift from our maker
On them we depend for food and for fun
Milk and meat for man's proper growth
And the priceless manure that makes our soil fertile

The woollen coats, a gift from sheep
But all this the shepherd will forget
As he reaches for the machete to dock the tail
To create eternal pain on the innocent lamb

The innocent rabbits together with their kittens
Bring fulfilment to the young and the old
But heartless man will forget this gem
As he denies them food right in his garden

The cocks that crow to tell us to rise
And the geese that honk to warn us of danger
Are nearing extinction due to man's greed
Feasting on their eggs like there's no tomorrow

Kapere Ssembuzi

Questions

1. What is the above poem about?
2. Which domestic animal is talked about in the first stanza?

a. eternal

b. kitten

9. Suggest a suitable title to the above poem.

COMPREHENSION

Read the information below and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

I am Naluwu Asmat and I am here to speak about something that has been disturbing me for the last few months. I have seen many people argue over whether or not zoos should be banned. I have travelled to and visited various places across the globe. Like most of us here, I have always been a fan of zoos since I am an animal fanatic. I used to enjoy seeing them do tricks and being fed.

My friend, Kamusiime works at a zoo and I once had the opportunity to see how these animals were being treated after the closing time of the zoo. It broke my heart to see how these innocent beasts were being treated mercilessly. I asked Kamusiime how he could silently watch all the horrific things being done to these poor creatures. He said that they don't have a choice, as their livelihood depends on how well they train these animals, and for that, they have to make them go through strenuous practices and mistreatment.

He said the zoo staff are now used to all the whinings and cries of these animals and the animals have got used to the practice too. It is heartrending to see how some fierce wild animals like the lions just don't even respond when the trainers hurt them. I also noticed the bruises animals like monkeys and apes had on their feet and body because of the rigorous training.

Another factor which concerns these animals is the confined space in which they are put. Animals like elephants, giraffes etc need vast spaces like forests to live in. These animals are put in small cages which affect their mental state very badly. Some are also chained, which limits their freedom to move naturally. Monkeys which could be jumping from one tree to another in forests have to adjust to the artificial surroundings which consume very little space.

Organisations like UWA, USPA and ADI should join animal lovers like you and me to create safe environments for people to watch animals live their natural lives. Isn't that much better than watching them being forced to do something that is not natural to them? Be compassionate and merciful. Stop cruelty against animals. They also deserve a lifestyle of peace, just like humans.

Questions

1. What kind of information is shown above?

2. By whom was the information presented?

3. Why is the writer a fan of zoos?

4. Who works in a zoo according to the above information?

5. What are the zoo staff used to?

6. According to the passage, which animals should live in vast spaces?

7. Does the writer want zoos to continue operating?

8. Write another word to mean the same as;

a. bruises

b. mistreatment

c. mercilessly

9. Write the abbreviations below in full.

a. USPA

b. UWA

c. ADI

COMPOSITION

Below is a dialogue between Sanvura and Baguma. Baguma's words are given. Fill in with what you think were Sanvura's responses.

Baguma: Good morning, Sanvura.

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: How was your night?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: Why wasn't it a peaceful one?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: Got tired! How on earth can walking a dog make you tired? I think that's all you did yesterday, right?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: Spent your day at Bwera Police Station! What were you doing there?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: I support you. Poachers really need to be reported to police. What crime did they commit yesterday?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: Shot an elephant! What a cruel act! From which game park was the crime committed?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: A number of animals are shot in that park. I think elephants in Queen Elizabeth National Park will soon become extinct.

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: I say so because of the high rate at which they are killed nowadays.

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: If the Uganda Wildlife Authority is in charge, why do these things continue happening to our innocent animals?

Sanvura: _____

Baguma: If you think so, let it surely be everybody's responsibility to report cases of poaching. Only if we are united can we win the battle against poachers.

COMPREHENSION

Below is a speech by Akech Pendah, a pupil of Bright Grammar School in Masaka. She presented it during the World Environment Day celebrations in Soroti District on 5th June 2020. Read it carefully and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Environment protection is the responsibility of the government. Individual efforts do not count as much. But does everybody agree with this statement? Nowadays, a number of people are increasingly concerned about environment protection. However, the responsibility of protecting our environment has become an issue of controversy. I'm going to discuss this issue and present my viewpoint.

First of all, governments should educate residents and raise their awareness about the dangers posed by pollution. They should also make all necessary efforts to ensure our cities remain clean and safe. For example people should sort rubbish for recycling. They should also be encouraged to go shopping using backpacks instead of polythene bags. This will reduce plastic waste and protect our land and trees.

Secondly, governments should also encourage people to reduce their dependence on private cars and instead use public transport and riding bicycles more often. By so doing, we will reduce not only the emission of carbon dioxide from cars, but also traffic jam and accidents on the road. We'll also have reduced air pollution greatly.

Thirdly, governments should take action to inspect pollution control measures factories such as discharge of waste water and gas following the legally approved procedures. If any factory doesn't follow the legal steps, the government should impose it a severe penalty and impose severe fines immediately. Governments should further encourage enterprises to create energy-saving equipment such as solar energy and hydraulic power system.

To sum up, creating a clean and ideal earth should depend on us making effort as individuals and governments. If we do the above, we'll be sure to leave this planet cleaner and greener, healthier and friendlier than we found it.

Questions

1. By whom was the speech above presented?

2. In which district were the celebrations held?

3. What are most people concerned about nowadays?

4. What was the speech about?

5. Why should governments encourage people to use public transport?

6. Where should people pack the items they purchase?

7. What does the speaker want governments to do to factories that do not discharge wastes legally?

8. When is the world environment day celebrated?

9. According to the speaker, who is responsible for protecting the environment?

10. Suggest a suitable title to the speech above.

COMPREHENSION

Read the poem below and, in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

Environment is made up of air
It makes our living possible here
It is a common element we share
It should always remain clean and clear.

Environment is made up of water
It gives us respite when the days are hotter
Without it our lives will be a bit shorter
We should save it as it's drying up faster.

Environment is made up of land
It's essential, on it we can stand
Some part of it is loam, clay and the other is sand
We should take care of it as it makes our lives grand.

Today our environment is facing pollution
To preserve it we need some solution
It is important for our evolution
To protect it let's start a revolution.

Mohan Patel (Kiswa Primary School)

COMPREHENSION

Read the poem below and, in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

HOLE IN MY HEART

To continue with life
Since you've gone
The hardest thing I'll ever do
You really meant a lot to me

My dear older brother,
I wear a mask day to day
And try to guard against
The deadly enemy

So elusive is the enemy
That he gives birth to new variants daily
But I long for you each day
Looking forward to the day we'll meet

There's a hole in my heart
That only my Maker can fill
For you're gone for good
--- love you still!

Raheem Keith (P.6 Crown - Semliki Primary School)

It was early in January this year when PLE results for 2019 were released. Most candidates became anxious because they wanted to know their results. They therefore sent SMS to 6600. While releasing the results at Uganda National Examinations Board (UNEb) Headquarters at Ntinda, the Minister of Education and Sports, Hon. Janet Kataaha Museveni was glad to announce that most of the candidates had passed the examination.

Besides, the general performance indicated that Science was the best done subject. She also noted that Social Studies was the worst done subject. The Minister congratulated all the candidates on their success. She also thanked the teachers and head teachers who had taught the candidates and conducted the examinations without any malpractice.

Since urban schools performed better than rural schools, the minister warned teachers in rural areas against absenteeism and late coming. She also expressed her anger at the high rate of school dropout in rural schools. She promised that the Ministry of Education and Sports would come up with a new policy very soon to combat the habits.

Finally, the minister called upon head teachers of secondary schools to assemble at Mandela National Stadium for selection of successful candidates to secondary schools of their choices.

We, the humans, remain busy life long. We always get ourselves engaged in work. Sometimes the work gets boring, so we may want some relief from this. And to be entertained mentally and physically, we go to visit some tourism spots. A tourism spot is a place which people visit for enjoyment. Uganda is a country of natural beauty. This is because there are many tourist spots in our country. The tourist spots of Uganda may be classified into two categories. The historical ones and the natural ones.

Among the historical places we have Bigo Bya Mugenyi in Ssembabule District in Southern Uganda, the Nyero Rock Paintings in Kumi District of Eastern Uganda and Amabeere Ga Nylnawiru in Fort Portal. All these places are famous for their connection to the generations that lived centuries ago. They have therefore become very popular to people. These places not only give us joy and refreshment, but also remind us of our history.

Among the places of natural beauty we have the source of The Nile, the longest river in the world. This tourism spot is located in Jinja Town in Eastern Uganda. Another place of natural beauty is Lake Bunyoni. It is famed for being the second deepest lake in Africa. The Sipi Falls in Kapchorwa are another eye-catching natural wonder among others. These places have become famous not only in our country, but also to the rest of the world.

Whenever we go there, these places soothe our eyes and please us with their charming beauty. But there are some problems. The government should think about the quickest permanent solution to these problems. The main problem the tourists face is insecurity. Another problem is lack of modern facilities such as accommodation and good transport network to connect these spots to the main roads. Most of the roads leading to these destinations are impassable during the rainy season and totally dusty on a hot day. This is because they are not tarmacked.

Now that you and I are aware that today tourism has become a great source of our government revenue. The government and the concerned authorities should take immediate action to attract the tourists both from here and abroad. And we the nationals of the pearl of Africa should inspire our children and children's children to protect the natural beauty of our country that attracts foreigners from as far as Europe, Australia and Canada.
