SECTION B

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Last week, our teacher of English in P7 Bitter taught us about the environment. During the lesson, he defined the environment, and later requested us to mention its components. Wetlands, waterbodies, air, land, flora and fauna are some of the components that were mentioned.

Furthermore, the teacher explained ways through which the environment is degraded. He said that factories release industrial refuse into waterbodies which kills aquatic animals. “Fumes from vehicles,” said the teacher, “pollute the air and cause global warming.” I was applauded after I raised my hand and said that land is mainly polluted through improper disposal of non-biodegradable materials like plastics.

Finally, Mr. Advocate took us on an excursion to Byaki Wetland where we were explained to, its importance to our sub-county, Owuya. “A wetland is a waterlogged and vegetated area,” Mr. Advocate explained.

I encourage fellow Ugandans to conserve the environment. This will maintain its productivity and save several endangered animal and plant species from extinction.

52. Read the poem below carefully and then answer, in full sentences, the questions about it.

In Paris streets I walk a foreign line,
My tongue gets tangled trying bonjour with wine.
I watch the Seine, admire the Louvre's grace,
A tourist smile fixed upon my face.
"Foreigners" is what the Frenchmen call us,
For we can scarcely speak their language
Whenever my wife and I journey to their land for holiday,
Drawn by the delight of their dishes.

In London rain I study, cold and keen,
I quote their poets while they fumble mine,
And learn their history line by line.
A foreigner is what the proud Britons call me,
For I'm not light-skinned like they are
Whenever I return to their country in pursuit of learning,
For their universities are among the finest.

But Mogadishu knows me in the dust,
No accent check, no questions of my trust.
The adhan calls me home at fall of night,
And hooyo's lullabies still feel so right.
Brother is what the Somalis with whom I labour call me,
For together we belong as one
Whenever I return home to my people and my culture,
For nothing in this world matters more than home.
