SECTION B: 50 MARKS

Questions 51 to 55 carry ten marks each.

51. Read the passage below and then answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Excitement filled Nansana Municipal School last Friday when the school organised a heated debate competition in the main hall. Preparations had started early in the week. Teachers coached the competitors on confidence, pronunciation and time management, while prefects decorated the stage with flowers, balloons and a large banner carrying the motion "School uniforms should be abolished."

Only two teams participated in the debate competition. The proposing team came from primary six while the opposing team represented primary seven and four. By 9:00 a.m., the hall was already crowded with pupils, teachers, parents and old students since it was the school's special that happens every June. They were all eager to listen to the arguments.

The debate was conducted in a well-organised manner. The chairperson introduced each speaker while the timekeeper rang the bell whenever time was over. The proposers argued that uniforms waste parents' money and limit freedom, but their opponents strongly defended uniforms saying they promote discipline, equality and smartness among learners. Some speakers quoted examples from daily school life, making the audience clap and laugh loudly.

The chief guest, Mrs. Namate Ruth, praised both teams for speaking loudly, boldly and using good English. The judges awarded marks according to confidence, grammar, eye contact and relevance of points. After a tense of silence, Primary Six was announced the winner with ninety points against seventy-eight points scored by Primary Seven and Primary Four. The winning team said that they had prepared enough views to present that is why they defeated their opponents.

The winners received a trophy, certificates, mathematical sets and story books. Although the opposing team lost, the chief guest advised them never to fear failure because losing can also build experience and courage. The debate ended with songs, handshakes and photographs as everybody celebrated the success of the competition.

52. Read the poem below carefully and then answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

I feed on petrol every day,
As I move along the highway,
Large windows and many seats
Help tired passengers rest their feet.

My big body carries many people,
Unlike small cars that carry few.
I stop at parks to pick and drop
Travellers going where they choose.

A careful driver controls my wheel,
While a conductor collects the fare.
I leave on time and reach on time
To show responsibility and care.

Handle me gently on every trip,
Do not overload or drive too fast.
Repair and wash me properly
So my good service will always last.

- (a) Who is speaking in the poem?
- (b) Which passengers are helped by the speaker according to stanza one?
.....
- (c) What is the speaker fed on?

54. Below is a composition about. Use the given words to complete the composition about "Sitting an Examination."

Papers, nervous, invigilators, opened, well, play,
12th, Cheating, different, English

It was on May 2026 when I woke up very early to sit my Pre-Mock examination at Katerera Junior School. I felt both nervous and excited because it was my first serious exam before PLE.

Before the exams, I prepared well. I revised all subjects like Mathematics,, Science and Social Studies with Religious Education. I used notes from six classes and also practised tricky questions from past At home, I reduced time and spent more time reading.

When I reached the sitting centre, I found many candidates from schools seated quietly. The place was very strict and serious.

Before the first paper, Mathematics, I was very I thought the paper would be very hard. But when I it, I was surprised. The questions were tricky but fair and required critical thinking.

The were strict but polite. They made sure everyone followed instructions and no took place. After the exam, I felt relieved and happy because it was not as difficult as I had feared.

The pre-mock exams taught me to prepare, stay calm, and think carefully when answering tricky questions.

55. Assume that you are a pupil at Rugazi Primary School P.O BOX 1232, Mbarara City. Your pen pal Justus, who lives in Democratic Republic of the Congo invited you to his birthday party scheduled for 15th May 2026. Unfortunately, an Ebola outbreak in Congo has led the government to ban all public transport across borders. As a result, you are unable to travel to attend the party. Using your school address, write a letter to him informing him of your absence. In your letter, explain the reason for your absence, show regret for not attending, wish him well on his birthday, and promise future contact when things return to normal.
