Section B (50 Marks)

51. Read the passage below and answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Last Monday, I visited the post office in Binda Town. I saw a lot of interesting activities. When I entered, I found a long line of people waiting at the counter. Some were holding letters while others carried parcels. The postal workers were busy weighing the items, putting stamps on them. They were also writing details in their record books.

As I stood outside, I watched a man sending a parcel to his friend in another district. The postal worker helped him to fill in a form and then sealed the parcel properly. I also saw a woman buying stamps and another person was collecting a package. The postal workers spoke politely and guided everyone. At the back of the post office, I noticed workers sorting letters. They separated them into different groups depending on where they were going. Some letters were placed in bags for nearby places while others were packed in boxes.

Before I left, I realized how important the post office is. It helps people send messages, money and goods to different places. I was happy to see how the workers made sure that every item reached its destination.

Questions.

- (a) What did the writer of the passage visit?
- (b) What were the people holding when the writer entered the post office?
- (c) Apart from weighing the items, which other activities were the postal workers doing at the post office?
- (d) Who helped the man who was sending a parcel?
- (e) To whom was the man sending the parcel according to the passage?
- (f) What did the writer see the woman doing?
- (g) How did the postal workers at the post office speak?
- (h) Where were the letters sorted by the workers?
- (i) Why do you think some letters were placed in bags?

53. Read the poem below carefully and answer, in full sentences the questions that follow.

Musa's school is along the road.
Where cars and buses pass and go
It looks so bright in the morning light
A happy place for us to know

Behind the school, a river flows
It moves so gently down the hill
We hear its sound both soft and clear
As we read, write and learn with cheer.

There is a big tree beside the gate.
Its branches give us cool, fresh shade.
We gather there and start our day
Before having our lessons.

In front, a small shop stands nearby
Where pupils go when school is done
Musa loves his school every day
He learns and plays having so much fun.
